

The Flower Mound Messenger

Posted on Fri, Nov. 02, 2007

It's All Treats at Fall Festivals

By John English
Contributing Writer

W.H. Miskiewicz/Photo Correspondent

Mikayla Howe, 2, goes as a Dragon Tail during the Parker Square Fall Fest.

The Flower Mound Fall Festival in Parker Square saw hundreds gathered around the gazebo to listen to music, dance, watch cheerleading demonstrations and ride on the Boogie Woogie Choo Choo, a barrel train pulled by a four-wheeler.

A clown on stilts held a basketball net and let children take shots, while another man made animal balloons.

There was a horse-drawn hay ride, street vendors sold food and other refreshments and a costume contest to topped things off.

"Flower Mound doesn't really have a Fall community event," festival organizer Wendy Traylor said. "We consider this to be Flower Mound's community center, so we decided to hold a Fall event for the families. Each year, we have about 2,000 families that turn out."

Costume Contest Winners were: Dreyden Day, 2, Porcupine; Gianni Grosso, 6, Cornstalk Buddies; Madelyn Brennan, 2, Angel; Katie Domagala, 9, Jack-in-the-box; Lakshmi Girish, 12, Vampire's wife; and, Kolby Blair, 3, Captain Hook.